The Eastern Shore celebrated the future of the new Regional Library on Saturday, October 1, 9:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. and a corresponding radiothon on WESR 103.3 FM from 8:45 a.m. to noon. Both events were free and family friendly. The party took place on Bennett Street in Downtown Parksley, Virginia at the future site of the new Regional Library. Live music, great food, and children's activities took place as well as sneak peaks at the new building plans.

The Building Party unveiled the theme for the fundraising campaign. "Check Me Out: More Than Just Books," the campaign slogan, conveys that your regional public library provides the physical and virtual space needed to foster a lifetime of learning and community interaction. T-shirts and buttons with the new logo were sold at the event. The Eastern Shore Public Library Foundation, the 501(c)(3) organization that allows for tax-deductible donations, is reaching out to you to support the capital campaign to build the new, modern facility you need.
