Proposed Name: The Rochelle Taccino Gray MakerSpace

If proposing the name of an individual, please include a biographical description of nominee:

Rochelle Taccino Gray is a Virginian, graphic designer, and businessperson who graduated from VCU in the late seventies. After working in Chicago, she moved to Alexandria with her husband Clifford Gray where she opened up TGD Communications design studio in the mid eighties. Her business has grown exponentially, and she has always donated her time and talents to charities in addition to running an extremely successful business.

Describe the individual's involvement and distinction in Accomack County:

Rochelle and her husband Cliff started summering in Chincoteague back in the nineties and were so captivated by the local landscape, culture, and people that they bought a home in Corbin Hall. Since the very founding of the Eastern Shore Public Library Foundation over a decade ago in 2010, Rochelle has provided tireless professional services to the Foundation and the ESPL itself in the form of graphics and design applied to almost all areas of the ESPL's range of needs and services, from corporate identities to promotional materials for fund raising, from website design and maintenance, from signage and banners to bookmarks and pencils. The estimated value of the services she has donated since 2010 is easily beyond the $100,000 mark, making her the major donor in kind to the Foundation and the ESPL System itself.

Describe the individual's connection to the property, facility, street, or structure, if any:

Rochelle Taccino Gray is currently providing services for interior and exterior signage at the Regional Library as well as graphics to be used for the embellishment of the walls themselves.
